

War and Scandal

Princess Babs

'Ile de France'

Third of the great postwar scandals to shake Washington is the senate's investigation of "the 5-per-centers" — they'd get you 5 per cent of government business for 5 per cent of the contract.

The scandal broke when a private business man mentioned James V. Hunt, former Army officer, as a Washington "5-per-center." Hunt had kept a diary, and he voluntarily turned it over to the investigators. Mentioned in the diary were two high Army purchasing officers — and both were suspended pending hearing.

Now the investigators are reaching for Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, military aide to president Truman — although the immediate connection is not clear.

In the two preceding scandals a congressman was convicted of fraud, and a high Air Corps officer was sent to prison.

But the current matter has not reached the trial stage, and a fair-minded public will wait until it hears the actual evidence. If you read Westbrook Pegler's column the other day you know some folks claim the attack on Harry Vaughan is a matter of spite on the part of Drew Pearson, newspaper columnist and radio commentator.

And yet a little evidence will go a long way, if it and when there is a trial — particularly regarding the men who actually negotiate purchasing contracts for the government. The insinuation behind any brokerage fee in obtaining government contracts is clear: The presumption is that some of the "fee" reaches government quarters — which is bribery.

But the evidence has still to be produced.

Barbara Hutton is pictured in a scene from a picture and broke woman, seeking the comfort of her son in her European asylum, and the court granted the loan of her son for awhile from the custody of his father, one of her divorced husbands.

But if there one living person in the United States most responsible for labor unrest and criticism of the capitalist system it is Barbara — the so-called "Princess of the Family" — who founded the Woolworth 5 & 10 business, and combination of bad training and a plucky trust fund put her up to the business of chasing, capturing and divorcing foreign princes.

What her career did for the morale of the rank and file of Woolworth workers made the Woolworth management wish she had never existed. Not a nice story — nor an American one.

In case you missed it, we carried last week a dispatch from Le Havre, France, reporting that the French are returning to the Atlantic luxury liner trade with a new ship, the Ile de France which was launched July 21.

Not a spectacular item, in this day of transatlantic airbuses which span the waves in a few hours — but it carries a significant thought. Running ocean liners is something the French used to do well, and now it looks like they are going to get back into the business.

It means France is getting along toward becoming self-sufficient. America wishes her well. In fact, we wish the same for all Europe.

Lots of things happen in Europe that we don't like — but the running of Europe to suit our exact taste is definitely less important than the job of making Europe self-supporting.

And that fact that the people now have a successor on the way is encouraging news.

Marshal at Stamps Shot; Negro Taken

Stamps, July 25 — (AP) — A Negro who twice barricaded himself to shoot at passersby and officers without apparent reason was wounded and captured here yesterday after he had shot the city marshal.

The Negro, Curtis Fornish, 28, a war veteran, hid in a smokehouse in the back of his grandmother's home and shot Marshal Melvin Wommack when the latter went to the house seeking him.

The previous night, Fornish had fired from inside the dwelling until he was routed by tear gas and escaped into the woods.

Wounded in the left shoulder but apparently not dangerously hurt, Wommack returned the Negro's wild fire yesterday until other officers arrived at the scene when tear gas was ineffective, the officers fired into the smokehouse until Fornish ceased shooting. Then they entered to find the Negro wounded in the legs and abdomen. He was taken to a Little Rock hospital.

Sheriff W. H. Baker said Fornish had been dismissed only recently from the Veterans hospital at Fort Roots, North Little Rock.

Landlord Turns Killer Blames OPA

Atlanta, July 25 — (UPI) — Police said today that a landlord who killed a tenant, wounded the tenant's wife and then shot himself, left a note saying he did it "to show the OPA."

J. F. Bailey, 38, went berserk with a pistol in his rooming house last night.

As his tenant, William J. Hays, came in from a movie, Bailey met him with a fatal blast of bullets. He then opened fire on Mrs. Hays and wounded her twice before she fled.

Finally he walked into his living room and put a bullet through his own heart.

Neighbors said Bailey had tried for two months to get the Hays' to move out of the two rooms they rented from him. He claimed they stayed up too late and kept his other tenants awake.

Officers investigating the shooting found a note written by Bailey in which he said he was going to "kill Bill Hays and his wife and show the OPA they can't show Stalin no around."

"I'll just show the OPA the Hays can be moved," the note read.

"It has come a time that this is not a free country. It looks like the federal government takes over everybody's business. The OPA telling people what they got to do with their homes. Joe Stalin just as well take over."

"I have worked hard and saved enough money to buy a home. Now since I got my home, the OPA tells me how to run it," the note said.

Heat Wave Grips Nation and Isn't Likely to Let Go

Chicago, July 25 — (AP) — The news from the weather bureau is mostly bad. The heat wave over most of the nation hasn't budged.

The mercury was doing another hot run-up today all the way from the Rockies mounting eastward to the Atlantic seaboard. And to make it more uncomfortable the humidity was getting in a good lick.

Just another sweltering day was in prospect with temperatures ranging up to the middle 90's throughout the plains states and into the lower 90's elsewhere.

Held In Cohen Shooting

Glum-Faced Jimmy Tarantino, 38-year-old publisher of the magazine Hollywood Nightlife and bitter critic of Hollywood vice, sits in San Francisco's City Prison after his arrest in connection with the ambush shooting of gang leader Mickey Cohen. Officer Joseph Crescini looks on. San Francisco Police Capt. James English said authorities overheard Tarantino threaten to "take care of Mickey Cohen" during an argument in a local hotel bar.

Women Outdrink Men Since End of War, Is Verdict of Veteran New York Cafe Man

New York, July 25 — (UP) — Woman's capacity for liquor has increased by leaps and bounds since the war, Joseph Colucci, a veteran cafe owner said today.

"As a matter of fact," he added, "the average woman began to outdrink the average man in about 1947."

Colucci said his 51st street establishment has become a veritable oasis for women drinkers and so he has had much opportunity to study their capacities.

"Seventy-five per cent of my bar patrons now are women," he said. "Most of them come from Radio City just across the street. They include members of the Rockettes, and other actresses, white collar girls from the city's hard-drinking women advertising executives and members of the Women's Republican club and the Abbott E. Kettledge club for women, which are near by."

Canada Will Demand Atom Bomb Secret

Washington, July 25 — (UP) — Key legislators have been informed that unless the United States shares atomic secrets with Britain and Canada it may be forced to cut back its bomb production, it was reported today.

Chairman David E. Lilienthal of the atomic energy commission was understood to have passed this word to the senate-house atomic energy committee in discussing American policy on sharing secret technical know-how.

The committee was advised that failure to exchange a bomb data freely with its wartime partners may cost the United States about half its yearly supply of uranium ore, the basic material from which the bomb is made. Such a development, Lilienthal reportedly said, would be certain to require a cut-back in atomic bomb production schedules.

The United States now has two major sources of uranium. They are the mines of the Great Bear lake region in Canada and those of the Belgian Congo.

Allotment of the vital ore is determined by U. S.-Canadian-British board, with the participation of Belgium insofar as the Congo ores are concerned.

In recent years, the United States has been doing business at the same stand for 14 years, said women drinkers began to change their ways and their brands during the war.

"Before the war, there were comparatively few women who visited bars unescorted," he said. "When they did come in, they sat at tables and drank Manhattans. Nowadays they have almost three times as many women drinkers. They all like to sit at the bar and, if any, go to the tables. And now, they prefer Martinis to Manhattans."

Colucci said the average woman patron downs three cocktails before dinner as compared to one in pre-war days.

"And after dinner," he said, "they continue to drink, which they never did before."

Colucci said he has great respect for his women.

They won't pour their hearts out to the bartender the first night they're in the place, he said. "Usually they wait the bar four or five times before they even become friendly."

The men, he said, invite sympathy from the man in the white apron almost immediately.

"A woman with three drinks in her is also a lot more lewd than a man carrying the same amount," he said. "And, generally, she has less trouble walking a straight line."

Colucci said there was another marked difference between men and women drinkers.

"Women at a bar are always 'humming' it up," he said. "They all love to appear mysterious and cheerful in picture of themselves, as the unhappy woman drowning her sorrows."

"To a man, liquor is primary. He drinks because he likes whisky. To a woman, it's always the trimmings that are more important than the actual drinking—the hurs d'oeuvres, the soft music, the dim lights, the chain-smoking, the male attention."

And, of course, he said, they love the mirror behind the bar.

70 Make Farm Tour of Hempstead

On Friday, July 22, approximately 70 representatives from the local Kiwanis, Lions and Rotary clubs, two veteran classes enrolled on the Farm Training Program, the Hope Chamber of Commerce, and local agricultural agencies, made a tour of a number of Hempstead county farms which have been and are being purchased through government loans through the Farmers Home Administration.

The purpose of the tour was to observe modern rural homes and improved farming practices being put into operation by Farmers Home Administration borrowers; and to let the business people, well as other farmers of Hempstead county, visualize the results of government loans made to farmers interested in developing and improving the agricultural situation and living conditions on the farms of Arkansas.

After leaving the court house at 8:45 a. m. the group met at Marlbrook church where a number of the farmers of the Marlbrook community met them, and W. M. Sparks, supervisor of the Farmers Home Administration in Hempstead county, introduced the purposes and plans for the tour. Leaving the Marlbrook church, the group visited the farms of Jack Cromer, W. E. Bradford, Ellis Steed, M. S. Bonds, A. M. Calhoun, and Mrs. Horace Pye and son, Bill.

Intensive study and discussion were given to the farms of W. E. Bradford and Mrs. Horace Pye. Some of the discussions concerned pasture improvement, characteristics of a modern, properly landscaped farm, and the importance of how to fill the home pantry to meet the family needs, production of good feeds, the development of a home orchard, accurately kept farm records, and the difference between hybrid corn and open pollinated corn. All along the route, the group observed such farm crops as tomatoes, cucumbers, cantaloupes, cotton, corn, pasture crops, watermelons, home orchards and livestock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cromer, formerly a Farm Ownership family, paid for their farm in four years from the sale of farm crops grown on 60 acres. They had added to their homestead sufficient hard-savings and members of the farm machinery. Throughout the families visited, the group observed how the live-at-home families carry out their program of farm ownership.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Bradford, a family of W. E. Bradford's family, grocery bill for the first half of 1949 averaged $5 per month.

All along the way at the various stops short lectures and explanations were made to the group by W. M. Sparks local FFA Supervisor, and under whose direction the tour was sponsored. John V. Kock, Project Manager for the local Soil Conservation Service, and Mr. Lorraine Blackwood, home demonstration agent.

Among those making the tour were B. D. Faught, State Field Representative, Farmers Home Administration, Little Rock; Mr. Merle E. Epps, Home Economist, State Farmers Home Administration, Little Rock; N. N. Daniel, FFA Supervisor of Nevada County and his Assistant Supervisor, J. Franklin; O. B. Hodnett, FFA Supervisor of Nevada County; Oliver Adams, Byron Huddleston and Mrs. Lorraine Blackwood, all three of whom are with the Agricultural Extension Service; Sid McMath, vice-president of the First National Bank; B. D. Forsythe, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce; W. E. Copeland, Manager of the Hope Hardware; Harvey Barry, Foy Hammons, Farm Implement dealer; Bill Reardon, Manager, Hempstead Hardware; John Kock, Soil Conservation Service; Crit Stuart, Jr., and Aubrey Enoch, both of whom are instructors for the Veterans classes of Hempstead county; and Frank Walters, John Deere Implement dealer.

The vacancy was created by the death of associate Justice Frank Murphy.

The Best Things in Life Are Free — Even in New York City — Says Hal Boyle Travelogue

By HAL BOYLE

New York — (AP) — So you're coming to visit New York City this summer for the first time? And your ailing uncle hasn't died yet and left you his money, so you have to travel on your own skinny pocketbook? And you want to know whether anybody can come here and have fun on a small budget?

Brother, at least 7,000,000 of the people who live here will tell you "yes"—with some qualifications.

You can do it if you have a real curiosity to see and know as much as you can of this city too big to put under canvas. But if your idea of heaven is to sip at gilded celebrities in plush supper clubs night after night—why, better wait until your uncle dies.

The best thing in New York City is its wonderful window displays, its famous streets, its great stores, its history—crowded museums, its skyscrapers, its tremendous views—cost little or nothing to see. And the people, the fabulous, the famous people of this fabulous city, they are the best show of all—and free.

But there is a time to see things best. Go at the right time for each.

Go out to Coney Island on a steaming Sunday and see humanity on the half shell. That is still the New York that O. Henry wrote about. And so is the Bowery and Chinatown and the edge of Greenwich Village. It's best to see them at night, and the subway will take you to any of those places for a dime.

But let's start at the beginning. When you get off your train, bus, or yourself to a cab ride to your hotel. If you don't know a good, clean reasonably-priced one, ask the hackie. Unless you give him the idea you're just in from West Knox, Kentucky, he'll steer you straight.

Even though your budget is tight you can still work it so that you eat at least once in a big-name restaurant, see a Broadway play and take in a fine concert. "Timing is important in these things, too."

Go to the restaurant at lunch. The prices are usually scaled lower at mid-day — and you are just as likely to see a celebrity then. Hit the theater boxoffice half an hour before curtain time. At all except the top musicals or "Death Of A Salesman" you'll probably be able to pick up a pair of tickets. "A Streetcar Named Desire" is now advertising good seats available for all performances, and my wife says it's the best play in town.

If you're a music lover, you can listen to some of the world's best talent at evening concerts under the stars at the Lewisohn stadium. And the prices, tax paid, range from thirty cents to $2. Major league baseball isn't too high. Go to see the Dodgers play at night. Then you won't have to add the cost of a bottle of sunburn lotion to the price of your bleacher seat. Don't fail to go up to the top of the Empire State building. Take a trip through Rockefeller Center. See the Rockettes in the Radio City music hall. Ride a trolley to Staten Island and enjoy the greatest view and the longest over-water ride on the globe for a nickel. All are good buys.

But walking and gawking are the finest fun here you can have. Archers are strong. Stroll through the garment district any week day at noon; Wall street, deserted on a Saturday afternoon; and Times Square on Saturday night, the biggest country town in America.

Be blasé as you meander along City Park avenue. Don't try to rescue a lady if she appears to be choking to death in a milk coat. She's happy — and what better way can a lady die. Once I saw a lady leading a deer along there and nobody turned to look twice. Should you see an octopus on Park avenue leading Greta Garbo in chains, don't stare. "Everybody'll know you're from out of town."

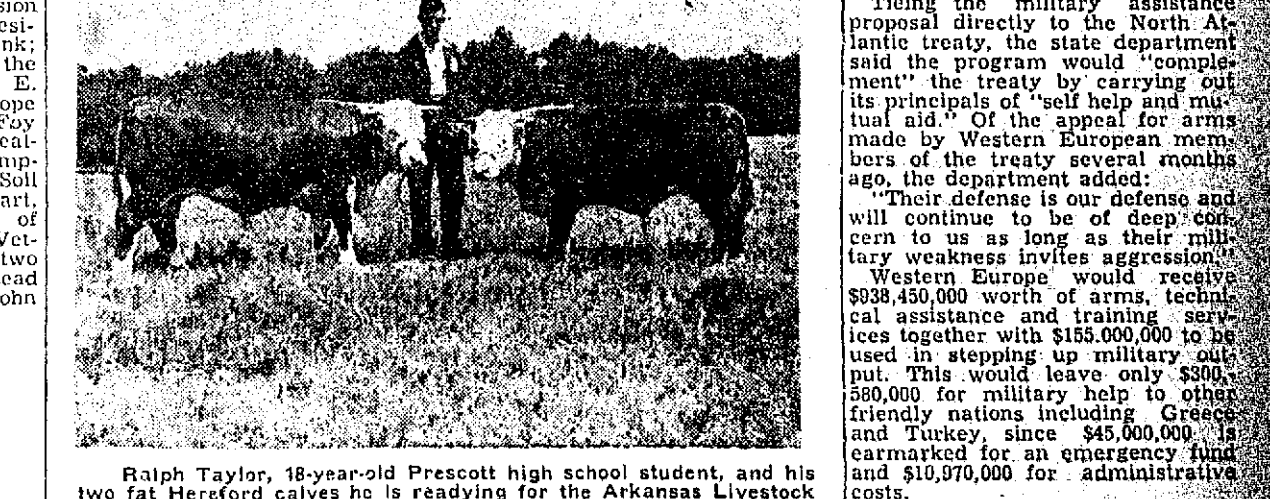

Two final important tips: (1) Don't change any $2 (or $20) bills for stingers. (2) When in doubt about anything, ask a cop. If you can't understand him, ask again. He may be from Brooklyn.

Ralph Taylor, of Prescott, and Two Hereford Calves He Is Ready for State Show

Ralph Taylor, 18-year-old Prescott high school student, and his two fat hereford calves he is ready for the Arkansas Livestock Show opening October 3. Ralph is feeding his animals under supervision of his FFA instructor, Sid Jurtile, who says he believes the youngster stands a good chance of taking down blue ribbons at county, district and state show. Ralph plans to go on to the International Livestock Exhibit in Chicago if he wins in Arkansas.

The best is none too good for 28 days on all grain. They now weight 770 and 810 and will go to 1,000 by showtime, he says.

Purtle said that this is Ralph's first major livestock project and added that the youngster expects to take his animals to the International Livestock Exposition in Chicago in December if the win in Arkansas.

Magnolia and Prescott are two outstanding examples of FFA chapters that have gone all out to produce winning beef this fall, according to the vocational Agricultural Division of the State Department of Education. The Department announced that there are now 252 active chapters of the Future Farmers of America in Arkansas with a record-breaking enrollment of 10,818 student members.

At Prescott, Vocational Agricultural Instructor Si Purtle last week pointed proudly to Ralph Taylor, 18, who is finishing two young steers named "Arkansas" and "Arkansas Traveler" for county contests at the county, district and state contests. Both are Herefords.

Ralph feeds his calves a ration that includes all grain, barley and a milk preparation and keeps them on a nurse cow as well. One of the calves gained 100 pounds in
